July Meeting Demo "Segmenting Fundamentals" by Butch Watson

Butch with a jig he made and uses for cutting segmented pieces

Butch gave an excellent presentation. The CCW group that was present asked many technical questions regarding segment turning, and Butch gave easy to understanding answers. For those who could not attend this meeting, you missed much in as how the mystery of segmenting was uncovered.

Central Connecticut Woodturners

A note from Lynda:

To the members of Central Connecticut Woodturners,

Thank you for presenting me with the Lifetime Membership Award. I started my woodturning journey over 10 years ago by taking a pen class at the Woodcraft down in Orange, CT. I met several of the CCW members at a Freedom Pen Turn-a-thon at the Manchester Woodcraft. Corey Anderson (then president) told me about this great group of turners and that there would be meeting there at the end of the month. That meeting turned out to be the club's annual club challenge.

I was awed, speechless and so impressed that so many things could be turned from wood! Pens were fun and easy but boy looking at all these other things. I vividly remember someone had made something that had to be hung from the ceiling!

And so my journey began. In this picture you can see the beginning on the left. My first pen, bowl & box and my recent pieces.

My inspiration is from all of my CCW members. Each of you has taught me something. Finishing, not being afraid of a 2436 Oneway, reverse turning, segmenting, piercing, color, confidence and teaching others.

Thank you again to all of you.

forever green~

Lynda
